SONGS AND INSTRUMENTALS OUT NOW ON 4AD

[video still]

Last fall via 4AD, Big Thief’s Adrienne Lenker released two new albums, songs and instrumentals. The albums, which Pitchfork praised as “some of the most vivid songwriting of her career,” received an incredible reception, appearing on many year-end lists and propelling Lenker to make her solo television debut on The Late Show with Stephen Colbert last week. Today, she shares a new, self-directed video for “forwards beckon rebound,” a track off of songs. Created by producer V Haddad and cinematographer Adam Gundersheimer and shot at Wild Heart Ranch in Joshua Tree, it focuses on Lenker as she’s moved to dance in the failing light of the setting sun.

Praise for songs and instrumentals

"one of her generation's greatest songwriters" - Pitchfork

"We hear acoustic guitar, her voice, the sound of the cabin and whatever bugs and birds happen to be in the background of the poetic paintings she sings. The intimacy is magnetic." - NPR Music

"In her folk-rock songwriting and in interactions with her Big Thief bandmates, the musician's raw openness creates strange and thrilling effects." - New Yorker

"Gorgeous indie-folk that's at once homespun and celestial" - The FADER

"Like Neil Young in the mid-early Seventies, each one of Lenker's personal peaks, be it 2017's tour de force Capacity, or 2019's ethereal U.F.O.F., turns out to be yet another stepping stone towards something revelatory." - Rolling Stone

"a brilliant songwriter with a sincere commitment to music and a deeply rooted work ethic." - Vice

"a reminder of how staggering Lenker's writing can be, how much emotion she can wring from just her voice, a guitar, and some distant birdsong." - Stereogum
