Museum Of Love - the New York-based duo of Pat Mahoney and Dennis McNany - returns with new single “Cluttered World” on Skint Records. Produced by the duo and mixed by James Murphy (DFA/LCD Soundsystem), “Cluttered World” is a super-futuristic torch song — it takes you by the hand and leads you down, down into a subterranean basement, all thick air and close heat. It pulls up a stool somewhere between the grand piano and the quaking bass bins and sets you right in the heart of the action. It’s a wild and disorientating place, yet it's one you'll want to return to again and again each time the drum track stops. "The song is about labor in the 21st century, and drifting and sifting through the hyper-abundance of our so called civilization," explains Museum Of Love.

Mahoney, founder and drummer of LCD Soundsystem, and McNany, known for his production work as Jee Day, formed Museum Of Love in 2013 and released their lauded self-titled debut the following year. "Cluttered World" is their first taste of new music to come later this year.
