MOSSWOOD MELTDOWN

ANNOUNCES RESCHEDULED 2022 DATES

BIKINI KILL, JOHN WATERS & MORE

JULY 2ND & 3RD 2022 IN OAKLAND'S MOSSWOOD PARK

“Mosswood Meltdown, July 4th weekend 2022.
Who needs fireworks? We’ll explode on our own.”
- John Waters

After severing ties with Burger Records last year, Oakland's Total Trash Productions is officially changing the name of Burger Boogaloo to Mosswood Meltdown. Additionally, the festival has been postponed to July 2nd and 3rd of 2022 due to the ongoing pandemic. Bikini Kill, John Waters, and all other currently confirmed acts are below, while the rest of the lineup will be announced later this year. All previously purchased tickets will be honored for the new dates.

Total Trash Productions has shared the following statement:

While Total Trash Productions has always independently produced the festival and Burger Records only played a promotional role, we do not want to discount the problems of safety and inclusion that have plagued the music scene for far too long. Instead, we would like to be part of the solution.

We are committed to becoming a leader in event safety and are working to expand our policies beyond the accepted standards. Over the coming months, we will be publicly outlining new safety and awareness practices in addition to new festival guidelines. In the meantime, we are eager to hear from members of our community who have policies or best practices they would like to see us incorporate in our plans as we want to ensure that your voices are heard. Please email safety@totaltrashproductions.com with your suggestions.
