Tickets for North American Tour On Sale Now

“One of indie rock’s finest songwriters.” - Rolling Stone

“On Home Video, Lucy Dacus filters growing pains into balmlike melodies.” - Vanity Fair

“This is [Lucy Dacus]’ time to shine, bigger than she ever has before.” - Vulture

“[Dacus] uses her canny knack for wry observations to create an album that glows incandescent in the way she maps out all the traumas and bright spots that made her who she is today.” - Stereogum, Best Albums of 2021 So Far “Dacus’ talent is undeniable.” - them.

Lucy Dacus will release her third album, Home Video, this Friday via Matador. Last night, on Jimmy Kimmel Live!, she performed the newest single, “Brando,” the #1 most added song at AAA and non-comm radio last week. Dacus’ flair for storytelling is vibrant in “Brando” and the Old Hollywood references she weaves throughout come to life in her endearing Kimmel performance. Filmed at the Theatre Gym at the Virginia Repertory Theatre, two dancers/choreographers, Egbert Vongmalaitong and Christina Leoni-Osion, twirl behind Dacus as she and her band perform; the scene transforms from black & white into a full spectrum of colors. This is Dacus' second late night appearance for Home Video, following The Late Show with Stephen Colbert. It previews her forthcoming run supporting Bright Eyes, and headline tour which kicks off later this summer.

The follow-up to 2018's Historian, Home Video is a gorgeous example of the transformative power of vulnerability built on Dacus' interrogation of her formative years growing up in Richmond, Virginia. Many of the very detailed and intimate songs comprising Home Video start the way a memoir might, and all of them have the compassion, humor, and honesty of the best autobiographical writing. They capture that specific moment in time growing up where emotions and relationships start becoming more complex -- the joys, the excitement, the confusion, and even the heartbreak of going through the process of discovering who you are and where people fit in your life and where you fit in theirs.
