Today, Big Thief unveil "Change," another gorgeous track in their catalogue, and announce a spring North American tour. Following three stunning singles - "Little Things," "Sparrow," and "Certainty," "Change" is intimate and evocative, and places the listener right alongside the band. Dreamy, eerie harmonies find warmth in the simple romance of Adrienne Lenker's lyrics; their innocent hope looking to find a simple moment of peace in chaotic times. "Change" was previewed at the band's set at Pitchfork Music Festival, which Vulture recently praised as one of the weekend's best moments.

PRAISE FOR BIG THIEF

“There’s a warm, feral energy to ‘Little Things’...the band creates a textured, woolly atmosphere that swaddles [Lenker’s voice] like a blanket.” - New York Times

“The setting for the recording of [‘Certainty’] befits the folk song, with its campfire harmonies and romantic sway.” - Rolling Stone

“[‘Little Things’ is] very hypnotic. It is really hard to explain how powerful I have found this song. I keep listening to it over and over again. I just love it.”
- Stephen Thompson, NPR Music

“[‘Little Things’ is] an intoxicating portrait of infatuation.” - Pitchfork

“With its shifting, heady production, [‘Little Things’] captures the thrill and danger of falling in love. Its title belies it - like the start of a new romance, the song is massive, all-consuming, undeniable.” - Entertainment Weekly

“If it wasn’t these four musicians, knowing how to work with each other, you could imagine ‘Little Things’ crash landing at so many turns. Instead, it glides, it shimmers. It remains in sight for just a few moments, mirage-like, a magic trick only these four can conjure.” - Stereogum

“‘Sparrow,’ is a gently strummed folk song that luxuriates in Lenker’s every tremble. The song is filled with rich, natural images punctuated by a steady beat.” - SPIN
